Democrats are more interested in winning the battle of the courtroom in front of friendly judges than winning the battle of ideas before the voters. In attacking Attorney General Bill Barr, they have unified the GOP against their agenda. Democrats no longer control the White House, the Senate, the House of Representatives, or for that matter most of the governorships or state legislatures. House Democrats are forcing Republicans to take a stand on President Trump's new position that the courts should completely overturn Obamacare. - Democrats Or Republicans
